

CMTBC releases Practice Development Program video, additional Quality Assurance FAQs, and resource on Evidence-Based Practice Standard of Practice

April 2, 2024

References to CMTBC in this news story also, where appropriate, refer to College of Complementary Health Professionals of BC (CCHPBC).

On March 25, 2024, CMTBC held a Practice Development Program information session. The information session was held to:

- Assist RMTs in understanding the Practice Development Program
- Support successful completion of the Practice Development Program
- Answer questions about the Practice Development Program

As a follow-up to the information session, CMTBC has updated the Quality Assurance Frequently Asked Questions page to include questions received from registrants both in advance of and during the information session.

A video of the information session is now available.

Evidence-Based Practice Standard of Practice

The Evidence-Based Practice Standard of Practice, which went into effect on January 15, 2024, sets clear expectations for how RMTs incorporate an evidence-based practice approach into their practice.

An additional resource to help registrants understand and apply the Evidence-Based Practice standard to their practice can now be on the Evidence-Based Practice page.